CIRCULAR

It is hereby to state that certain Medical, Dental, and Allied Subject posts are considered essential and emergency services for the welfare of mankind. Therefore, it is imperative that recruitment to such posts be completed without unnecessary delay. It has been observed that, for these medical and allied subjects, the number of applications received is sometimes very low; since the Commission must then club these subjects with others to conduct the short listing examination (CBRT), the process is often delayed, thereby underscoring the need for a more streamlined and timely recruitment procedure.

Accordingly, the Commission has decided, on a provisional/trial basis, that whenever up to 20 applications are received for Medical, Dental, and Allied Subject posts, candidates will be required to submit their documents for verification. Those found eligible as per the prescribed norms, advertisement, and Recruitment Rules will be called directly for an interview.

However, if 21 or more applications are received for such posts, the Commission shall shortlist candidates by conducting a Computer Based Recruitment Test (CBRT) before proceeding to the interview stage.

This measure aims to ensure fairness, improve efficiency, and expedite the recruitment process for Medical, Dental, and Allied Subject posts. This decision shall come into effect immediately.
