Comprehension

Shakespeare did not rely on the stage-carpenter or the scenic painter. He puts his scenery in his lines. There you will find mountains and river and seas, valleys and cliffs, violets and clouds, and over all “the firmament fretted with golden fire.” He cared little for plot, little for surprise. He did not rely on stage effects or red fire. The plays grow before your eyes and they grow as the morning comes. Plot surprises but once. There must be something in the play besides surprise. The plot in an author is a kind of strategy – that is to say, a sort of cunning—and cunning does not belong to the highest natures. There is in Shakespeare such a wealth of thought that the plot becomes almost immaterial; and such is this wealth that you can hardly know the play—there is too much. After you have heard it again and again. It seems as pathless as an untrodden forest.

Question Description

As per the implicit meaning of the above passage, Shakespeare

did not trust his stage-carpenter

B

disapproved of the scenic painter

C

preferred to have very little stage design

complemented stage design with verbal expression

Total depravity of human nature! Here is a woman whose husband has been lost at sea; the news comes that he has been devoured by the ever-hungry waves, and she waits. There is something in her heart that tells her that he is alive. And she waits. And years afterwards, as she looks down towards the little gate, she sees him; he has been given back by the sea, and she rushes to his arms, and covers his face with kisses and with tears. And if that infamous doctrine is true, every tear is a crime and every kiss is blasphemy. It will not do. According to that doctrine, if a man steals and repents, and takes back the property, the repentance and taking back of the property are two crimes. It is an infamy. Total depravity of human nature! 54	Question Description	Astronomer: Most stars are born in groups of thousands, each star in a group forming from the same parent cloud of gas. Each cloud has a unique, homogeneous chemical composition. Therefore, whenever two stars have the same chemical composition as each other, they must have originated from the same cloud of gas.  Which of the following, if true, would most strengthen the astronomer's argument?
	A	In some groups of stars, not every star originated from the same parent cloud of gas.
	B	Clouds of gas of similar or identical chemical composition may be remote from each other.
	C	Whenever a star forms, it inherits the chemical composition of its parent cloud of gas.
	D	Many stars in vastly different parts of the universe are quite similar in their chemical compositions.
